

It's Me Someli

FrontEnd Developer

I'm a Frontend Developer with 3 years of experience crafting intuitive, high-performing digital products. My passion lies in bridging the gap between elegant design and clean code, ensuring every user journey is seamless and impactful. Over my career, I've specialized in component-based architecture using React, comprehensive user research, and scalable CSS solutions. I thrive in collaborative environments, leading projects from initial wireframe to final deployment, and have consistently reduced user friction.
